Pact to find WA uranium

MINDAX has expanded its holdings of West Australian uranium interests through a 50-50 exploration joint venture with Quasar Resources.

The partnership will be operated by Mindax and will target the discovery and economic exploitation of recoverable uranium mineral deposits within the Yilgarn region.

Mindax managing director Greg Bromley said Quasar's operating experience would prove valuable in the event of a commercial discovery, with the company also bringing significant uranium-focused exploration expertise to the joint venture.
